

Evening Telegraph

PUBLISHED EVERY AFTERNOON

AT THE EVENING TELEGRAPH BUILDING, NO. 108 & THIRD STREET.

Price, Three Cents per Copy (Double Sheet), or Eighteen Cents per Week, payable in Advance...

MONDAY, OCTOBER 19, 1868.

Democracy and Intelligence Synonyms.

The New York World still continues its crusade against the Tammany candidates, despite and in defiance of the dictum of Belmont, Tilden, and Schell. This morning it avers that "the Democratic masses are never so wronged as by those who underrate their intelligence."

Seymour has spoken. In conference with certain members of the Democratic Executive Committee at Utica on Saturday, he declared that "he was nominated against his wishes, that it would be a relief to him if any other name were substituted for his own, and that any change which should be made must include his withdrawal."

Nor has Blair been silent. Silence is not one of the infirmities of the Blair family. He ventilated his views at St. Louis on Saturday evening, and "all he had to say was, that both candidates will always be ready to lay down their candidacy when it can no longer be of service to the Democratic party of the country."

Still Blair did not go the full chivalric length demanded by the World, nor have we any reason to believe that he will hereafter. The Democratic masses will not be materially affected by either Seymour's speaking the truth or by Blair's doing a chivalrous action.

Wade Hampton, when he dictated the Tammany platform, was guilty of this thing; and so was Vallandigham when he nominated Seymour. As for Blair's nomination, it was the result of a sublime display of stupidity all around.

Let us have peace. In the language of General Grant, there was at the close of the war "a fine feeling at the South which ought to have been taken advantage of," but unfortunately the apostasy of Andrew Johnson gave the Rebels cause to hope that they would be able to regain the ascendancy which they had lost, and from his obstinate persistence in a line of policy which was condemned by the loyal portion of the nation sprang the unnumbered ills that perplex us to-day.

Let us have peace. In the language of General Grant, there was at the close of the war "a fine feeling at the South which ought to have been taken advantage of," but unfortunately the apostasy of Andrew Johnson gave the Rebels cause to hope that they would be able to regain the ascendancy which they had lost, and from his obstinate persistence in a line of policy which was condemned by the loyal portion of the nation sprang the unnumbered ills that perplex us to-day.

Let us have peace. In the language of General Grant, there was at the close of the war "a fine feeling at the South which ought to have been taken advantage of," but unfortunately the apostasy of Andrew Johnson gave the Rebels cause to hope that they would be able to regain the ascendancy which they had lost, and from his obstinate persistence in a line of policy which was condemned by the loyal portion of the nation sprang the unnumbered ills that perplex us to-day.

Let us have peace. In the language of General Grant, there was at the close of the war "a fine feeling at the South which ought to have been taken advantage of," but unfortunately the apostasy of Andrew Johnson gave the Rebels cause to hope that they would be able to regain the ascendancy which they had lost, and from his obstinate persistence in a line of policy which was condemned by the loyal portion of the nation sprang the unnumbered ills that perplex us to-day.

to the Democracy had not the buoyancy of that bubble. He closed with saying, "In the event of not succeeding, let us take the chance that General Grant will come to us during the next four years." Pleasing anticipation! Certainly, Democratic fellow-citizens, wait for General Grant to come to you! One of the most pleasing exercises of the human mind is confidence, and we hear it suggested that each one of the faithful, following the advice of Mr. Ingersoll, will wear a small anchor as a medal, illustrative of the poetic sentiment that—"Hope springs eternal in the human breast."

Farragut. The movements of Admiral Farragut in European waters have excited a great deal of wonderment on the part of some of the sensation journals of the Old World. Whenever a person of note, whether of royal, noble, or plebeian blood, goes over an extended tour, every turn and crook in his path is carefully noted by these European Jenkinses, and not an incident is suffered to pass without being tortured into something of political significance. Farragut has puzzled these enterprising Bohemians not a little. He carries his flag into every sea and harbor, and sits down with royalty to eat and drink in every capital. Addresses in all the tongues of modern Babel are showered upon him, and to each and every one he contrives to get up a reply of some sort, satisfactory on all sides in the main. But nothing comes of all this perambulation by land and taking of water. The old Sea Dog quietly pursues his way from one point to another, accommodating himself to the manners and customs of each nationality he visits, arousing the utmost enthusiasm while he remains, and leaving the most enduring and flattering impression when he departs. And yet nothing comes of it. He talks blandly and flatteringly to the Sultan one day, and on the next receives and encourages a Cretan deputation; he plays the very humble and obedient servant to the petty King of Denmark, and then tosses off a bumper with the royal automaton of Prussia, under the management of Count von Bismark. In all this he is excessively neutral, and the Bohemians are sorely distressed thereat.

The Democratic Wake. On Saturday night the mourners over the corpse of Democracy held a formal and time-honored wake at Ninth and Arch, and the merits of the dead departed were expatiated on in full by Brown and Ingersoll and Meany and Miles. The intimate relations subsisting between the deceased and Mr. Charles Ingersoll, and the hardships they had undergone together, made his remarks peculiarly affecting. Probably they would have been much more rational had he not, like his distinguished namesake Charles I, lost his head. As a consequence he rambled on like some garrulous grandfather who attends the funeral of his descendant. Each of the speech, however, as was said in commemoration of the dead and as a consolation to the living, we cheerfully make room for.

The orator commenced by telling the sad thing that the "Democratic party, like the old French Guard, never surrenders—it dies first." This is a satisfactory explanation of the mourners being present, but we would like to know whether the entire Democratic party concurs with one of its wings, and prefers the "last ditch" as a resting-place? The Southern Democracy would never surrender, it said, but it has not yet made a mausoleum of that mythical "ditch." Can it be that the immortal Democratic party will agree with Huddibras, that "he who fights and runs away will live to fight another day," and repudiate the valiant threat of the lofty Ingersoll?

But despite all valorous declarations, the awkward fact remains the same, that the party was beaten, badly beaten. Now, how must that fact be overcome? Clearly by charges of fraud. So the great Ingersoll proceeds to charge fraud, in that the Republican judges of election referred to refused the votes of newly naturalized citizens. By this means, says the sublime Ingersoll, the State was "lost to us by eight thousand majority." Ergo, it must be that, in addition to the six thousand votes fraudulently polled by these men, there were eight thousand more who did not succeed in voting. Why, the calculation of twenty-five seconds to a man in the Supreme Court is too much! Ten seconds is about the true average. And because these votes were refused, Mr. Ingersoll proceeded to display his logic. He said:—"A man derives his vote from the Constitution, the right of suffrage belonging to the native-born and naturalized citizen. To turn over the votes of all naturalized citizens to the Republicans would throw out the votes of all Democratic citizens."

All A is B, all C is D, therefore all B is F. Such is the logic of Mr. Ingersoll. If Banasy hasn't a rival at last! After explaining how it happened that defeat occurred, which—upon the principle that every man who falls on a pavement, the moment he rises looks carefully for the piece of orange-peel on which he slipped—was a satisfactory occupation, the orator went on to derive consolation from the melancholy event. He said:—"The consequences of being defeated would not be irreparable to the party. In the next four years there are to be commercial revolutions that no one can prevent; and the Democratic party, if in power, would have to bear the odium of such disorders. The only danger in our losing this Presidential election is that you might not stand firm to your principles during the interval."

Would any insouciant wretch dare to suggest, in connection with the name of the sublime Ingersoll, that odious proverb of our grasps? Perish the thought! But still it is really remarkable that the Democracy was desirous to bear this "odious burden" of commercial revolution, and strove so hard and committed so many frauds and perjuries to subject themselves to it. We congratulate them on their escape—not the slight straw's weight of that "odium" will not rest on them for many years to come. A champagne cork, it is said, is eagerly seized by a drowning man as a buoy to bear him up. The cork which Mr. Ingersoll threw to the Democracy had not the buoyancy of that bubble. He closed with saying, "In the event of not succeeding, let us take the chance that General Grant will come to us during the next four years." Pleasing anticipation! Certainly, Democratic fellow-citizens, wait for General Grant to come to you! One of the most pleasing exercises of the human mind is confidence, and we hear it suggested that each one of the faithful, following the advice of Mr. Ingersoll, will wear a small anchor as a medal, illustrative of the poetic sentiment that—"Hope springs eternal in the human breast."

Farragut. The movements of Admiral Farragut in European waters have excited a great deal of wonderment on the part of some of the sensation journals of the Old World. Whenever a person of note, whether of royal, noble, or plebeian blood, goes over an extended tour, every turn and crook in his path is carefully noted by these European Jenkinses, and not an incident is suffered to pass without being tortured into something of political significance. Farragut has puzzled these enterprising Bohemians not a little. He carries his flag into every sea and harbor, and sits down with royalty to eat and drink in every capital. Addresses in all the tongues of modern Babel are showered upon him, and to each and every one he contrives to get up a reply of some sort, satisfactory on all sides in the main. But nothing comes of all this perambulation by land and taking of water. The old Sea Dog quietly pursues his way from one point to another, accommodating himself to the manners and customs of each nationality he visits, arousing the utmost enthusiasm while he remains, and leaving the most enduring and flattering impression when he departs. And yet nothing comes of it. He talks blandly and flatteringly to the Sultan one day, and on the next receives and encourages a Cretan deputation; he plays the very humble and obedient servant to the petty King of Denmark, and then tosses off a bumper with the royal automaton of Prussia, under the management of Count von Bismark. In all this he is excessively neutral, and the Bohemians are sorely distressed thereat.

The Democratic Wake. On Saturday night the mourners over the corpse of Democracy held a formal and time-honored wake at Ninth and Arch, and the merits of the dead departed were expatiated on in full by Brown and Ingersoll and Meany and Miles. The intimate relations subsisting between the deceased and Mr. Charles Ingersoll, and the hardships they had undergone together, made his remarks peculiarly affecting. Probably they would have been much more rational had he not, like his distinguished namesake Charles I, lost his head. As a consequence he rambled on like some garrulous grandfather who attends the funeral of his descendant. Each of the speech, however, as was said in commemoration of the dead and as a consolation to the living, we cheerfully make room for.

The orator commenced by telling the sad thing that the "Democratic party, like the old French Guard, never surrenders—it dies first." This is a satisfactory explanation of the mourners being present, but we would like to know whether the entire Democratic party concurs with one of its wings, and prefers the "last ditch" as a resting-place? The Southern Democracy would never surrender, it said, but it has not yet made a mausoleum of that mythical "ditch." Can it be that the immortal Democratic party will agree with Huddibras, that "he who fights and runs away will live to fight another day," and repudiate the valiant threat of the lofty Ingersoll?

But despite all valorous declarations, the awkward fact remains the same, that the party was beaten, badly beaten. Now, how must that fact be overcome? Clearly by charges of fraud. So the great Ingersoll proceeds to charge fraud, in that the Republican judges of election referred to refused the votes of newly naturalized citizens. By this means, says the sublime Ingersoll, the State was "lost to us by eight thousand majority." Ergo, it must be that, in addition to the six thousand votes fraudulently polled by these men, there were eight thousand more who did not succeed in voting. Why, the calculation of twenty-five seconds to a man in the Supreme Court is too much! Ten seconds is about the true average. And because these votes were refused, Mr. Ingersoll proceeded to display his logic. He said:—"A man derives his vote from the Constitution, the right of suffrage belonging to the native-born and naturalized citizen. To turn over the votes of all naturalized citizens to the Republicans would throw out the votes of all Democratic citizens."

All A is B, all C is D, therefore all B is F. Such is the logic of Mr. Ingersoll. If Banasy hasn't a rival at last! After explaining how it happened that defeat occurred, which—upon the principle that every man who falls on a pavement, the moment he rises looks carefully for the piece of orange-peel on which he slipped—was a satisfactory occupation, the orator went on to derive consolation from the melancholy event. He said:—"The consequences of being defeated would not be irreparable to the party. In the next four years there are to be commercial revolutions that no one can prevent; and the Democratic party, if in power, would have to bear the odium of such disorders. The only danger in our losing this Presidential election is that you might not stand firm to your principles during the interval."

Would any insouciant wretch dare to suggest, in connection with the name of the sublime Ingersoll, that odious proverb of our grasps? Perish the thought! But still it is really remarkable that the Democracy was desirous to bear this "odious burden" of commercial revolution, and strove so hard and committed so many frauds and perjuries to subject themselves to it. We congratulate them on their escape—not the slight straw's weight of that "odium" will not rest on them for many years to come. A champagne cork, it is said, is eagerly seized by a drowning man as a buoy to bear him up. The cork which Mr. Ingersoll threw

SPECIAL NOTICES.

THE "NEW THING UNDER THE SUN." Of which Solomon doubted is PRATON'S "FLOOR POLISH." It cannot be described, for there is nothing like it in the whole realm of fragrances. Sold by all druggists.

OFFICE OF THE CITY TREASURER. PHILADELPHIA, October 14, 1868. NOTICE. Registered City Warrants numbering from No. 1 to 3,000, inclusive, will be paid upon presentation at this office. Interest ceasing from this date.

OFFICE OF THE LEHIGH COAL AND NAVIGATION COMPANY. PHILADELPHIA, October 8, 1868. A meeting of the Stockholders of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company will be held at the BOARD OF TRADE ROOMS, CHESTNUT, above Fifth street, on the 20th day of October instant, at 12 o'clock noon.

OFFICE OF THE DIAMOND COAL COMPANY, No. 309 WALNUT STREET. NOTICE. The Directors have declared a dividend of 75 CENTS per share, payable on and after the 17th instant.

DISEASES OF THE SKIN, WITH their scaly, ichthyous, itching, desquamations, form a series of most obstinate, burdensome disorders. Happily a remedy is found in HIRSHKILL'S TESTER OINTMENT, which is a specific for any form of skin disease.

MECHANIC'S NATIONAL BANK. PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 15, 1868. A meeting of the Board of Directors of this Bank, held this day, JOSEPH G. MITCHELL was unanimously elected President.

BACHELOR'S HAIR DYE.—THIS splendid Hair Dye is the best in the world; the only true and perfect dye; harmless, reliable, instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints; remedies the ill effects of bad dyes; invigorates and leaves the Hair soft and beautiful, black or brown, sold by all Druggists and Perfumers, and properly applied at BACHELOR'S HAIR DYE FACTORY, No. 80 1/2 STREET, NEW YORK.

CHEMISTS STATE THAT THE PRODUCTS which give to sponge its superior elasticity is incapable of being so strong but on the contrary protects it from decay. This is the undoubted testimony of the hundreds of thousands now using the Elastic Sponges.

THE NEW CABINET BEDSTEAD.—An elegant and perfectly furnished Bedstead, ready for use instantly. Assumes the appearance of a splendid cabinet or library. Easily managed by the most delicate ladies. Warehouses, No. 520 CHESTNUT STREET.

POLITICAL.

UNION LEAGUE MEETING.

CONCERT HALL.

The Republicans and other loyal citizens of Philadelphia friendly to the election of

GRANT AND COLFAX.

Will assemble in Mass Meeting AT CONCERT HALL, ON TUESDAY EVENING, 20th Inst., AT EIGHT O'CLOCK.

To express their condemnation of the gross frauds committed by the leaders of the Democratic party at the late election.

The ballot-box has been openly desecrated. Fraud and violence have defied the will of the people. Armed ruffians have been brought from other cities to overawe the peaceable voters. Fraudulent naturalization papers have been voted by thousands, and the peace and order of our city have been violated by organized bands of lawless men, under the protection of Deputy Sheriffs, who have shot down citizens while exercising a freeman's rights.

Let us meet and take counsel together for the protection of our rights.

BY ORDER OF THE COMMITTEE. ATTENTION, BOYS IN BLUE! SOLDIERS' AND SAILORS' STATE CENTRAL COMMITTEE ROOMS, No. 208 SEVENTH STREET, PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 16, 1868.

A Delegation of ONE HUNDRED PICKED MEN, in Uniform, with HAND LANTERNS AND MUSIC, will attend the MASS CONVENTION IN ALBANY, N. Y., ON OCTOBER 23 (FRIDAY NEXT). Gentlemen desiring to participate please register their names at the Committee Rooms at once. Excursion Ticket. CHARLES H. T. COLLIS, Chairman.

REPUBLICAN INVINCIBLES. ATTENTION!—Members of Companies will assemble at time and places as stated below: A and E, TUESDAY, Oct. 20, 8 P. M., at Headquarters; B and C, WEDNESDAY, Oct. 21, 8 P. M., at Headquarters; F, WEDNESDAY, Oct. 21, 8 P. M., at Diligent Building, Room 21; G, WEDNESDAY, Oct. 21, 8 P. M., at Merrick and Market streets; H and I, SATURDAY, Oct. 24, 8 P. M., at Headquarters. Full attendance is requested, as business of great importance will be considered. By order of the Executive Committee, WILLIAM M. McMICHAEL, President, WILLIAM L. FOX, Secretary, Oct. 19, 1868.

FLOUR. NEW BUCKWHEAT FLOUR, FIRST OF THE SEASON. ALBERT C. ROBERTS, Dealer in Fine Groceries, 11 7/8 Cor. ELEVENTH and VINE Streets.

FAMILY FLOUR, In lots to suit GROCERS, or by the Single Barrel, for sale by J. EDWARD ADDICKS, No. 1230 MARKET STREET, PHILADELPHIA.

WE ARE RECEIVING EVERY GRADE OF FLOUR. L. KNOWLES & CO., No. 1215 MARKET STREET.

CARD.

The undersigned having entered into the manufacture of an extra quality of Boot Polish, and finding that its superior qualities are so generally appreciated by all who have used it, has resolved to enter into its manufacture on a very large scale, and with that end in view has provided himself with the most approved machinery and such facilities as will enable him to manufacture this superior article to the very best advantage, and with a view of giving the public the benefit of improved facilities, has resolved to reduce the price to the very lowest figure that can be afforded for so good an article.

Those dealers who have bought at former prices will please drop a line by mail, stating what amount they have on hand, and a deduction will be made to correspond with present reduced prices. This blacking we intend (like our celebrated Electric Soap) shall be superior to any other manufacture.

Those who wish to secure a brilliant and lasting polish are advised to try the famous Dobbins Electric Boot Polish, warranted superior to all others.

Manufactured only by J. B. Dobbins, at his immense Soap and Blacking Works, Sixth and Germantown avenue, and destined very soon to be sold everywhere.

P. S.—Any dealer who don't keep this superior Blacking for sale set him down for an old foggy, dyed in the wool, and doubled and twisted in the chain.

WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH THE MAN?

Good friend, what's the matter? And why do you chatter? Your teeth and stand shaking your knees? You seem to have ague, Which badly pain plague you: Good friend, are you trying to freeze? How he explains it— Oh! cold in the weather! Too thin altogether! My coat, and my vest, and my pants: I'm suffering and freezing, And that is the reason I shake and shiver and dance.

How to get over the difficulty— Oh, shivering creature! Accept, I beseech you, A plan to escape from your woes— 'Twill verily ease you, And comfort, and please you— "TRY ROCKHILL & WILSON'S FALL CLOTHING!"

Don't shiver, folks! don't shake, folks! Autumn weather is upon us, and let us have warm clothes upon us too. The strongest, the warmest, the most enduring, the most elegant, the best fitting, and, above all things, the CHEAPEST, at

ROCKHILL & WILSON'S.

GREAT BROWN-STONE HALL, Nos. 603 and 605 CHESTNUT STREET, PHILADELPHIA.

FOR SALE.

PUBLIC SALE OF COUNTRY RESIDENCE, FURNITURE, ETC., IN DELAWARE. BURLINGTON COUNTY, NEW JERSEY. Will be sold at Public Sale, at 12 o'clock, noon, on THURSDAY, the 12th day of November, on the premises, a three story double frame Dwelling, with two-story back buildings, and lot of nearly two acres of ground, fronting on the Lancaster river, 15 minutes' walk from the Camden and Amboy R.R. road depot and wharf, four-five minutes' ride from Philadelphia, and three hours from New York. Location on the river, abundance of shade, gravel beach, every variety of fruit. Immediately after the above will be sold Plant-ferre, Mahogany and Black Walnut Parlor, Dining-room, and Bed-room Furniture, Cooking Utensils, Gardening Tools, etc. etc. Persons wishing to examine the property before the sale may apply to

T. S. & C. E. FLETCHER, DELAWARE, N. J.

FOR SALE.—GERMANTOWN RESIDENCE. Double stone House, 15 rooms; all modern conveniences, stable, two acres of ground. Within 10 minutes' walk of the City. Possession immediate. Address, No. 811 CHESTNUT STREET, PHILADELPHIA.

WEST PHILADELPHIA.—FOR SALE. Half Square Ground on Market street, between 4th and 5th streets. WILLIAM B. WELLS, No. 219 CHESTNUT STREET.

TO RENT.

FOR RENT. PREMISES, No. 809 CHESTNUT ST., FOR STORE OR OFFICE. ALSO, OFFICES AND LARGE ROOMS suitable for a Commercial College. Apply at BANK OF THE REPUBLIC.

AN OFFICE TO LET, FURNISHED OR UNFURNISHED. No. 508 SOUTH TENTH STREET. Inquire at 504 in the afternoon.

PIANOS. STEINWAY & SONS' GRAND SQUARE and upright Pianos, at BROAD and MARKET STS., No. 1006 CHESTNUT STREET.

STECK & CO.'S AND HAIN'S BROTHERS' PIANOS, and MASON & HAIN'S CABINET ORGANS, only at J. R. GOULD'S New Store, No. 228 CHESTNUT STREET.

CHINA, GLASSWARE, ETC. GREAT INDUCEMENTS TO CASH BUYERS. HOUSEKEEPERS Will find it greatly to their advantage to purchase

CHINA, GLASS, AND COMMON WARES OF TYNDAL & MITCHELL, No. 707 CHESTNUT Street, PHILADELPHIA.

DEAFNESS.—EVERY INSTRUMENT THAT science and skill have invented to assist the hearing in every degree of deafness; also, Respirators, also, Chemical Patent Crucibles, superior to any others in use, at F. MADRILLAN'S, No. 119 1/2 SOUTH STREET, below Chestnut.

PATENTED.—PANTS SCURED A D. STREETS—CLOTHES FROM 1 to 5 inches, with Notch, French Broom, and Securing, No. 39 1/2 SOUTH STREET, below Arch Street. FOR SALE.

CLOAKINGS.

LADIES' CLOAKINGS.

STRAWBRIDGE & CLOTHIER.

OFFER A VERY LARGE STOCK OF BLACK BEAVERS

Selected expressly for LADIES' CLOAKINGS, comprising the best makes of FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC GOODS. Every grade is warranted all-wool.

- BLACK BEAVERS, $2.00. BLACK BEAVERS, 3.00. BLACK BEAVERS, 3.50. BLACK BEAVERS, 4.00. BLACK BEAVERS, 4.50. BLACK BEAVERS, 5.00. BLACK BEAVERS, 5.50. BLACK BEAVERS, 6.00. BLACK BEAVERS, 6.50. BLACK BEAVERS, 7.00. BLACK BEAVERS, 8.00. BLACK BEAVERS, 10.00.

The above are of every weight and finish, and present an assortment unsurpassed in this country. Besides these goods, we have every make of CLOAKINGS the market affords.

STRAWBRIDGE & CLOTHIER,

CENTRAL EMPORIUM,

Corner EIGHTH and MARKET,

PHILADELPHIA.

MILLINERY, TRIMMINGS, ETC.

OPENING.

A Full Line of our own Importation VELVETS, SATINS, and RIBBONS, TO MATCH, FOR MILLINERY AND DRESS-MAKING. WOOD & CARY.

LATEST STYLES FANCY BONNETS, LADIES' AND MISSES' HATS AND EVERY STYLE OF CUT MATERIAL, WITH FEATHERS, FLOWERS, FRAMES, FOR BONNET MAKING.

WOOD & CARY,

No. 725 CHESTNUT Street,

PHILADELPHIA.

EIGHTH STREET RIBBON STORE

No. 107 N. EIGHTH STREET, Four doors above ARCH STREET.

I have now open for the FALL AND WINTER SEASON, A SPLENDID ASSORTMENT OF BONNET RIBBONS, VELVETS, TRIMMING RIBBONS, SATINS, SATIN RIBBONS, SILKS, VELVET RIBBONS, GRAPES, LACES, HATS, FLOWERS, BONNETS, FEATHERS, FRAMES

To which I would kindly call the attention of the ladies. JULIUS SICHEL, No. 107 N. EIGHTH Street.

P. S.—No trouble to show goods. 108 rp

WE OPEN TO-DAY NEW LINE

RIBBONS, SATINS, AND VELVETS FOR MILLINERY AND DRESS TRIMMING PURPOSES.

FEATHERS, FLOWERS, GRAPES LACES, and a general assortment of MILLINERY GOODS, WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

S. H. & D. STERN,

TEMPLE OF FASHION. Mrs. M. A. BINDER, No. 101 CHESTNUT STREET, IMPROVER OF LADIES' DRESS AND CLOAK TRIMMINGS.

Just received, Fringes, Gimpes, Satins, Velvet Trimmings, Ribbons, Buttons, and Lace Goods in Thread, Gimpes, Chilly, Valenciennes, Point Applique, Collets, Silk and Satin, Collars, Handkerchiefs, White Waists, Berthes, Chemises, French and English, Choice Patterns, Jovita's Kid Gloves, Bridal Veils and Wreaths, French Corsets, Hoop Skirts, notions and small wares.

Dress and Cloak Making in all their departments. Retail orders executed with the utmost care. Mourning and traveling outfits and other trappings worked up in a few hours' notice, at such rates as can not fail to please. 23 wfm24

P. E. GILL,

No. 730 ARCH STREET.

MILLINERY GOODS in wholesale and retail. BONNETS ready-made and made to order. HATS, various shapes, trimmed and untrimmed. 10 1/2 fm21

SUPERBLY ILLUSTRATED BOOKS.

Myrick's Army. Plates in gold and colors. 2 vols. Turner Gallery. Artist's proofs. Folio. Barchini Halls and Castles of England & Wales. Shaw's Dress and Decorations of Middle Ages. 2 vols. Boy's Chronicles of England. Illustrated plates. Neale's Mansions of Scotland. 4to plates. 2 vols. Claude's Liber Veritatis. 2 vols. Folio. Mother's Magazine des Femmes. 2 vols. Dore's Bible, Don Quixote, and other works. Frislar's Chronicles of England. Illustrated. THE ENGLISH BOOKS FOR.

HATS AND CAPS.

JONES, TEMPLE & CO. FASHIONABLE HATTERS; No. 26 S. NINTH STREET, First door above Chestnut. 48

WARBURTON'S IMPROVED VENTILATED and easy-riding Dress-Hats patented, in all the improved fashions of the season. CHAS. NUT'S Patent, next door to the Post Office. 11 1/2 rp WANTS.

WANTED.—A FEW MORE HORSES at Liverty, Rybans and Wrentham streets, between Broad and Juniper, below Locust. The best of provender for horses at Liverty. 10 16 rp